

TABLE OF CONTENTS

One	PERSONALITY AND PERSONOLOGY	1
	What personologists do. What personality is. The personologist's three kinds of knowledge. The core and periphery of personality. Selection of theorists for inclusion in this book.
Two	THE CORE OF PERSONALITY: CONFLICT MODEL	17
	Conflict Model: Psychosocial Version: Freud's position. Murray's position. Ego psychology. Sullivan's position. Conflict Model: Intrapsychic Version: Rank's position. The positions of Angyal and Bakan.
Three	THE CORE OF PERSONALITY: FULFILLMENT MODEL	65
	Fulfillment Model: Actualization Version: Rogers' position. Maslow's position. Fulfillment Model: Perfection Version: Adler's position. White's position. Allport's position. Fromm's position.
Four	THE CORE OF PERSONALITY: CONSISTENCY MODEL	110
	Consistency Model: Cognitive Dissonance Version: Kelly's position. McClelland's position. Consistency Model: Activation Version: Fiske's and Maddi's position.
Five	RATIONAL AND EMPIRICAL ANALYSES OF CORE CONSIDERATIONS	144
	Essential Features of the Three Models: The conflict model. The fulfillment model. The consistency model. Some Issues Raised by the Three Models: First issue: Is the concept of defense tenable? Second issue: Is all behavior defensive? Third issue: Is the highest form of living adaptive or transcendent? Fourth issue: Is cognitive dissonance invariably unpleasant and avoided? Fifth issue: Is all behavior in the service of tension-reduction? Sixth issue: Does personality show radical change after the childhood years have been passed? Concluding Remarks.
Six	THE PERIPHERY OF PERSONALITY: CONFLICT MODEL	228
	Conflict Model: Psychosocial Version: Freud's position. Murray's position. Erikson's position. Sullivan's position. Conflict Model: Intrapsychic Version: Rank's position. Angyal's position. Bakan's position.
Seven	THE PERIPHERY OF PERSONALITY: FULFILLMENT MODEL	272
	Fulfillment Model: Actualization Version: Rogers' position. Maslow's position. Fulfillment Model: Perfection Version: Adler's position. White's position. Allport's position. Fromm's position.
Eight	THE PERIPHERY OF PERSONALITY: CONSISTENCY MODEL	302
	Consistency Model: Cognitive Dissonance Version: Kelly's position. McClelland's position. Consistency Model: Activation Version: Maddi's position.

Nine	RATIONAL ANALYSIS OF PERIPHERAL CONSIDERATIONS The Various Kinds of Concrete Peripheral Characteristics: Motives and traits. To the rescue of the concept of motivation. The problem of the unconscious. Schemata. The Peripheral Concept of Type: The problem of individuality. The Content of Peripheral Personality: The conflict model. The fulfillment model. The consistency model.	325
Ten	EMPIRICAL ANALYSIS OF PERIPHERAL CONSIDERATIONS The Ideal Strategy: Step one: Measuring concrete peripheral characteristics. Step two: Interrelationships among measures. Step three: The construct validity of peripheral theorizing. A word of practicality. Factor Analytic Studies: Cattell, Guilford, and Eysenck. Number of factors. The kinds of factors. The content of factors. Other Studies of Peripheral Personality: Freud's position. Murray's position. Erikson's position. Sullivan's position. Rank's position. The positions of Angyal and Bakan. Rogers' position. Maslow's position. Adler's position. White's position. Allport's position. Fromm's position. Kelly's position. McClelland's position. Maddi's position. Concluding Remarks.	353
Eleven	FORMAL AND SUBSTANTIVE CHARACTERISTICS OF THE GOOD THEORY OF PERSONALITY Formal Characteristics: The parts of a personality theory. Overall criteria of formal adequacy. Substantive Characteristics.	445
REFERENCES	463
APPENDIX OF TERMS	481
INDEX	503