

Contents

1. Developmental testing: an overview	1
2. Prenatal and perinatal factors relevant to developmental assessment and diagnosis	17
3. Environmental factors and development	35
4. Abilities and reflexes of the newborn	52
5. The assessment of maturity	71
6. The neurological examination of the newborn baby	89
7. The head circumference	110
8. Normal development	120
9. Variations in individual fields of development	163
10. Variations in the general pattern of development	187
11. The developmental history	199
12. The examination of the older infant and child	205
13. Interpretation	231
14. The diagnosis of mental subnormality	243
15. The association of mental subnormality with physical defects and disease	250
16. The diagnosis of cerebral palsy	266
17. Assessment of suitability for adoption	286
Summary and conclusions	291
Index	293