

CONTENTS

7

Preface	5
---------	---

Chapter 1

Mental health issues in primary health care	7
The need for more appropriate and flexible methods of health delivery	7
Mental health care: a neglected component	8

Chapter 2

The scope of mental health in primary health care	11
Improving the functioning of general health services	12
Contributions to socioeconomic development	14
Enhancing the quality of life	14
The promotion of mental health	15
Prevention of mental and neurological disorders	17
Detection and treatment of mental disease	18

Chapter 3

The importance of a national mental health policy	23
Examples of policy statements	23
Coordinating groups for mental health	24
Policies should lead to programmes	24

Chapter 4

Involving the community	27
--------------------------------	----

Chapter 5

Contributions to mental health from other sectors	31
Governmental organizations	31
Nongovernmental organizations	32

Chapter 6

Infrastructure for decentralized and integrated mental health care	35
Important principles	35
The primary level	36
The secondary level	38
The tertiary level	39

Chapter 7

Issues in training and the need for change	41
Disease-related skills	41
Psychosocial skills	41
Training principles	42
Training manuals	43

Chapter 8

Priority conditions and the supply of essential drugs	45
--	----

Chapter 9

Data collection	49
General principles	49
Data required for planning	50
Data for patient management	51
Data for health service management	51
Evaluation of services	52

Chapter 10

The cost of a mental health component in primary health care	57
---	----
